THE RBA ADVANTAGE

There are a number of features standard to the RBA Safety line that enhances product use and awareness. An integral inline strainer is standard on all eye and eye/face wash models to remove the risk of injurious particles in the water line. All RBA models are stainless steel. This increases the visual recognition of the models' location and provides additional protection in corrosive environments. Many RBA Safety models will have extensive pre-assembly at the factory before shipping. This will allow for easier and quicker installation by the customer.
